Item 1. Business

Intellectual Property, page 27

1. We note that you do not include any of the patent rights licensed from The Scripps Research Institute in the discussion of your intellectual property beginning on page 27. If any of the patent rights that you license from TSRI are material to your business, please provide us proposed disclosure for use in future filings that describes these material patent rights.

2. We refer to your disclosure, “We have also filed additional patent applications pending in the U.S., Australia, Brazil, Canada, China, Europe, Hong Kong, Israel, India, Japan, Mexico, New Zealand, the Russian Federation, Singapore, and South Korea covering solithromycin and related compounds. A few of those applications have already issued as patents. Those patents and applications claim related chemical compounds, pharmaceutical compositions, pharmaceutical formulations, methods for treating particular infections and other diseases, and/or manufacturing processes,” in the seventh paragraph under “Intellectual Property” on page 28. Please provide us proposed expanded disclosure that indicates the jurisdictions and expected expiration dates of these patents and any patents that may issue from the applications.

Collaborations and Commercial Agreements, page 29

3. Please provide us for use in future filings a proposed expanded description of your agreement with The Scripps Research Institute that includes a description of the termination provisions.

Item 6. Exhibits, page 23

5. Please note that the Loan and Security Agreement with Comerica Bank, which was filed as an exhibit to your Form 8-K filed July 16, 2015, should have been listed as an exhibit to your Form 10-Q for the Quarterly Period Ended September 30, 2015 pursuant to Item 601(a)(4) of Regulation S-K. We also note that certain exhibits and schedules to the Loan and Security Agreement do not appear to have been filed, as required by Item 601(b)(10) of Regulation S-K. Please file a full and complete copy of the Loan and Security Agreement with your next periodic report.
